

Elmosoft is a soft pliable semi-aniline leather offering outstanding comfort and high durability.

Elmosoft has a largely even surface structure with some visible insect bites and scars from healed wounds adding to the texture.

After aniline dyeing, a pigmentation coat is added to give color uniformity. A top coating is then applied giving the leather its protective layer. Elmosoft is produced using the most modern environmental sensitive processes.

Elmosoft has a soft natural touch with low breathability. The advantages of Elmosoft are its low maintenance and high durability.

Elmosoft is stain resistance and colour resilient in sunlight.

Elmosoft is suitable for residential use where a balance between comfort and maintenance is required.

Elmosoft is available in 60 colourways. The 24 illustrated are offered as standard.
